

ABSTRACT

A document production system for setting, controlling, querying and saving printer control settings is provided. Based upon user selected control settings for a single printer, control settings for multiple printers or groups of printers may be manually or automatically set to preserve the selected control settings.

0996619-0996619